UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
WESTERN DISTRICT OF WASHINGTON
AT TACOMA

ALAIN HENSLEY,

Plaintiff,

v.

TD AMERITRADE INC. et al.,

Defendants.

CASE NO. 3:23-cv-05159-DGE

ORDER GRANTING DEFENDANTS' MOTIONS TO DISMISS AND TO COMPEL ARBITRATION (DKT. NOS. 13, 14,

I INTRODUCTION

This matter comes before the Court on the Defendants' motions to dismiss and to compel arbitration. (See Dkt. Nos. 13, 14, 21.) For the reasons discussed herein, the Court grants each of the Defendants' motions to dismiss.

II BACKGROUND

Plaintiff Alain Hensley, acting pro se, brings suit against a series of financial entities and regulators in response to alleged fraud and other misdeeds.¹ Mr. Hensley alleges he is a shareholder of Meta Materials, Inc. and owner of class A preferred shares (listed under “MMTLP”) of the company. (Dkt. No. 3 at 4.) He purchased these preferred shares from one of the Schwab Entities in 2022. (Id. at 4, 6.) As alleged, these shares were “unlawful securities” and were “utilized to reduce the stock price of MMTLP.” (Id. at 5.) Mr. Hensley also alleges he was informed he could trade his MMTLP shares “up until and thru December 12, 2022, or wait until MMTLP went private on or about December 14, 2022, and receive Next Bridge Hydrocarbons (‘NBH’) shares” in exchange for his MMTLP shares. (Id. at 6.) Despite this representation, Mr. Hensley experienced trouble in trading these shares. (Id. at 7.) Mr. Hensley alleges he was ultimately unable to transfer any of his MMTLP shares. (Id. at 7–8.)

Though difficult to follow, Mr. Hensley appears to allege that some combination of Defendants were involved in the creation and sale of “Synthetic illegal shares” as part of an attempt to cover unlawfully short positions in MMTLP stock.² (Id. at 9–10.) He also alleges

¹ The named defendants are TD Ameritrade, Inc. (“TDA”), the Schwab Entities (Charles Schwab & Co., Inc., and Schwab Holdings, Inc.), the GTS Defendants (GTS Equity Partners LLC, GTS Execution Services LLC, GTS Securities, LLC, and Global Trading Systems, LLC), and Financial Industry Regulatory Authority, Inc. (“FINRA”). Mr. Hensley also appears to have erroneously named two non-extant entities in his complaint caption (Waterhouse Securities, Inc. and TD Waterhouse Investor Services, Inc.) and GTS Mischler, which the GTS Defendants assert is just a trade name for GTS Securities, LLC (see Dkt. No. 14 at 2). Mr. Hensley also named 200 doe defendants (“Doe Defendants”).

² In a short sale, a trader sells a security that they do not own and have typically borrowed from another on behalf of the seller. See 17 C.F.R. § 242.200(a) (“The term short sale shall mean any sale of a security which the seller does not own or any sale which is consummated by the delivery of a security borrowed by, or for the account of, the seller.”). “To sell short, [] [a] trader typically borrows the shares from a broker who obtains them either from its own reserves or from an external source. The trader then sells the borrowed shares in the open market.” See S.E.C. v. Colonial Inv.

1 “Defendants helped facilitate the shorting of the MMTLP shares up through at least 12-8-2022.”
2 (Id. at 10.) On this same date, FINRA halted trading of MMTLP. (Id.) As a result of this 3 trading halt, “Defendant has denied Plaintiff the ability to sell the MMTLP shares for a profit and 4 decide whether he wanted to proceed into the private NBH.” (Id. at 11.)

5 Mr. Hensley filed an initial complaint on February 28, 2023 against the Defendants. (Dkt.
6 No. 1.) The initial complaint, however, was not served on the Defendants and Mr. Hensley
7 subsequently “amended” this complaint and served summons on the Defendants on April 21, 8 2023. (See Dkt. Nos. 3, 4.) The amended complaint, which the Court treats as the operative
9 complaint, alleges Defendants violated various federal criminal laws and committed deceptive
10 trade practices under Nebraska state law. It also alleges that FINRA failed to properly regulate 11 the other Defendants and is involved in the purported fraud. (Dkt. No. 3 at 17–18.) Mr. Hensley 12 seeks monetary damages, injunctive relief, and demands an accounting of Defendants’ books and 13 records pursuant to Delaware law.³ (Id. at 53–59.)

14 FINRA and the GTS Defendants filed their motions to dismiss for failure to state a claim
15 on June 20, 2023. (Dkt. Nos. 13, 14.) Mr. Hensley filed a late response to these motions on July 16 14, 2023, the noting date for the initial motions. (See Dkt. Nos. 30, 31.) Both FINRA and the 17 GTS Defendants filed reply briefs on July 14. (Dkt. Nos. 28, 33.) FINRA subsequently filed an 18 additional reply brief on July 28. (Dkt. No. 35.) TDA and the Schwab Entities separately filed 19 their motion to compel arbitration and to stay or dismiss this case on June 26, 2023. (Dkt. No.
20 21.) Mr. Hensley filed a timely response to this motion on July 13 (Dkt. No. 27) and TDA and the Schwab Entities filed their reply on July 21 (Dkt. No. 34). On September 25, 2023, FINRA filed a Notice of Supplemental Authority. (Dkt. No. 38.)

III DISCUSSION

A. Motions to Dismiss for Failure to State a Claim

a. Legal Standard

FINRA and the GTS Defendants move to dismiss Mr. Hensley's claims against them for failure to state a claim pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 12(b)(6).

"Under Rule 12(b)(6), the Court accepts all factual allegations in the complaint as true and construes them in the light most favorable to the nonmoving party." Nw. Env't Advocs. v. U.S. Dep't of Com., 283 F. Supp. 3d 982, 990 (W.D. Wash. 2017). "To survive a motion to dismiss, a complaint must contain sufficient factual matter, accepted as true, to 'state a claim to relief that is plausible on its face.'" Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 556 U.S. 662, 678 (2009) (quoting Bell Atl. Corp. v. Twombly, 550 U.S. 544, 570 (2007)). Plausibility is not probability, but to survive a motion to dismiss a plaintiff must plead more than conclusory statements and recitations of the legal elements of a cause of action. Ashcroft, 556 U.S. at 678.

b. FINRA's Motion to Dismiss

i. Regulatory Immunity

The Court finds that FINRA is entitled to regulatory immunity and therefore Mr. Hensley fails to state a claim.

FINRA argues that Mr. Hensley has failed to state a claim as against them because they are entitled to absolute regulatory immunity by virtue of their role as a private-self regulatory entity ("SRO"). (Dkt. No. 13 at 12–14.) Mr. Hensley, in response, argues FINRA is not entitled to immunity because "[c]ommitting fraud and allowing fraud to be committed is not part of []

1 [FINRA’s] duties in fact it’s the opposite.”⁴ (Dkt. No. 31 at 2.) Mr. Hensley also attempts to 2 distinguish his case from others involving MMTLP shares where courts have found FINRA to be
3 entitled to regulatory immunity and attempts to draw the Court’s attention to communications
4 between FINRA and the SEC that were not included in his complaint. (Id. at 2–4.)

5 “A [] [SRO] like FINRA enjoys absolute immunity from suit for actions taken under the 6 aegis of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934’s delegated authority.” Hofman v. Fid. Brokerage
7 Servs., LLC, No. 223CV00881MCSPVC, 2023 WL 3872564, at *6 (C.D. Cal. May 8, 2023)
8 (cleaned up). “[S]elf-regulatory organizations have been granted immunity from suit when 9 acting in a quasi-governmental capacity.” Sparta Surgical Corp. v. Nat’l Ass’n of Sec. Dealers,
10 Inc., 159 F.3d 1209, 1214 (9th Cir. 1998), overruled in part on other grounds by Merrill Lynch, 11 Pierce, Fenner & Smith Inc. v. Manning, 578 U.S. 374 (2016). Other Circuits similarly find that 12 SROs are entitled to absolute immunity under the Exchange Act when performing regulatory 13 functions. See, e.g., In re NYSE Specialists Sec. Litig., 503 F.3d 89, 96 (2d Cir. 2007) (noting 14 that SROs are “absolutely immune from suit” for misconduct arising from “the enforcement of 15 security rules and regulations and general regulatory oversight over exchange members”).

16 This immunity extends to an SRO’s failure to regulate and also covers allegedly unlawful 17 actions related to the SRO’s regulatory function. See id. at 97–98 (holding that “[u]nder our 18 precedent, the immunity protects the power to regulate, not the mandate to perform regulatory 19 functions in a certain manner. Thus, the immunity depends only on whether specific acts and 20 forbearances were incident to the exercise of regulatory power, and not on the propriety of those 21 actions or inactions.”); see also Hurry v. Fin. Indus. Regul. Auth., Inc., 782 F. App’x 600, 602

22
23 ⁴ Mr. Hensley filed an untimely response to FINRA’s motion, however the Court recognizes Mr.
24 Hensley is pro se and does not find that his untimely filing alone constitutes an admission of the merits of FINRA’s arguments. See LCR 7(b)(2).

(9th Cir. 2019) (noting that regulatory immunity under the Exchange Act extends to any actions taken by an SRO under the authority of the Act).

Mr. Hensley’s allegations against FINRA appear to the Court to be solely based on FINRA’s alleged regulatory failings. Mr. Hensley asserts, for example, that “[w]hen FINRA failed to investigate this fraud case properly, it opened itself up to lawsuits from investors who realized their interests were not adequately protected.” (Dkt. No. 3 at 18.) Mr. Hensley also alleges “[i]t is the responsibility of FINRA and the S.E.C. to take appropriate action to prevent fraud in the financial markets” and that FINRA has “epically failed” in its duty to “investigate[] complaints and take[] enforcement action against individuals or firms that violate FINRA rules and regulations.” (Id. at 19–20.) Such allegations are squarely addressed at FINRA’s regulatory shortcomings and FINRA is accordingly entitled to regulatory immunity.

The Court is also not convinced that Mr. Hensley’s allegations are materially different than those of the cases he tries to distinguish. See Hofman, No. 223CV00881MCSPVC, 2023 WL 3872564, at *2 (C.D. Cal. May 8, 2023) (“Plaintiff contends FINRA wrongfully halted trading of Meta Materials securities in December 2022, which facilitated Defendants’ fraudulent scheme involving short sales by nonparties and restrained Plaintiff from selling his securities for an anticipated profit before a corporate action that ultimately left him with a ‘valueless security.’”); Tawil v. Fin. Indus. Regul. Auth., Inc., No. 4:22CV440-RH-MAF, 2023 WL 4353179, at *1 (N.D. Fla. May 24, 2023) (“FINRA suspended trading in shares of Metamaterials Inc. (‘Meta’) shortly before the shares were slated for exchange for shares of other entities. The plaintiff Roza Tawil was a Meta shareholder. She asserts FINRA suspended trading prematurely, reducing the value she and other Meta shareholders received in the exchange.”); see also Park v. Fin. Indus. Regul. Auth., Inc., No. 2:23CV0069-RWS, ECF No. 30, at *3 (N.D. Ga. Sept. 25, 2023) (“On December 9, 2022, . . . FINRA announced a U3 trading halt on MMTLP securities, stating that ‘an extraordinary event ha[d] occurred.’”). Indeed, Mr. Hensley alleges “[h]ours after the Market Makers, facilitated by the Defendants, shorted the nonexistent MMTLP shares from dollars to under $3 on 12-8-2022, FINRA placed an extremely rare U3 halt on trading.” (Dkt. No. 3 at 10.)

Mr. Hensley’s complaint alleges shortcomings by FINRA with regard to actions that fall under its regulatory powers and FINRA is therefore entitled to regulatory immunity from Mr. Hensley’s claims. Because FINRA is entitled to regulatory immunity, the Court need not address FINRA’s other alternative grounds for dismissal.

c. GTS Defendants’ Motion to Dismiss

The GTS Defendants separately move to dismiss Mr. Hensley’s claims for failure to state a claim. (Dkt. No. 14.)

In their motion to dismiss, the GTS Defendants argue that many of Mr. Hensley’s claims should be dismissed because they are based on criminal statutes, regulations, or policies that do not provide a private right of action. (Id. at 7.) The GTS Defendants also argue that Mr. Hensley failed to plead sufficient facts as to “what any of the GTS Defendants (let alone each of them) allegedly did wrong, or which statutes they allegedly violated.” (Id. at 10.) Additionally, the GTS Defendants argue Mr. Hensley’s complaint fails to meet the heightened pleading standards for fraud under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 9(b). (Id. at 11.)

As with FINRA, Mr. Hensley filed an untimely response brief in response to the GTS Defendants’ initial motion. (See Dkt. No. 30.) Mr. Hensley’s response, however, raises no substantive responses to the GTS Defendants’ arguments. Mr. Hensley notes that [i]n my complaint I detailed how they committed the fraud, When they did it, and that the intent was there. It was very deliberate. They make a lot of claims about not explaining with proof of this action they took against the Plaintiff however this is the purpose of discovery. I gave the shortest explanation of the situation under the circumstances, it's a very complicated situation. I showed what has happened and I will add more documentation to the fact.

(Id. at 3.) This general statement that he identified the GTS Defendants' wrongdoing, does not actually respond to the arguments raised. The Court agrees with the GTS Defendants that Mr. Hensley has failed to respond and therefore admits that the GTS Defendants' motion has merit. See Rispoli v. King Cnty., No. C04-1500L, 2005 WL 3454409, at *1 (W.D. Wash. Dec. 16, 2005), aff'd, 297 F. App'x 713 (9th Cir. 2008) ("[P]laintiff failed to respond to either of these arguments and the Court interpreted this failure as an admission that defendants' legal and factual arguments had merit.").

The Court separately finds that Mr. Hensley fails to state a claim against any of the GTS Defendants as the sole allegation against the GTS Defendants is conclusory (see Dkt. No. 3 at 4), does not distinguish between any of the GTS Defendants, and does not provide enough facts "to raise a right to relief above the speculative level." Twombly, 550 U.S. at 555.

B. TDA and Schwab Entities' Motion to Compel Arbitration and to Dismiss Claims

TDA and the Schwab Entities separately move the Court to enforce the terms of TDA's arbitration agreement with Mr. Hensley and to stay or dismiss the case. (Dkt. No. 21.)

a. Legal Standard

Section 2 of the Federal Arbitration Act ("FAA") provides that a contractual arbitration agreement "shall be valid, irrevocable, and enforceable, save upon such grounds as exist at law or in equity for the revocation of any contract." 9 U.S.C. § 2. "Congress adopted the Arbitration Act in 1925 in response to a perception that courts were unduly hostile to arbitration." Epic Sys. Corp. v. Lewis, 138 S. Ct. 1612, 1621 (2018). The FAA "is a congressional declaration of a liberal federal policy favoring arbitration agreements." Moses H. Cone Mem'l Hosp. v. Mercury

Constr. Corp., 460 U.S. 1, 24 (1983). Accordingly, “courts must ‘rigorously enforce’ arbitration agreements according to their terms.” Am. Exp. Co. v. Italian Colors Rest., 570 U.S. 228, 233 (2013) (quoting Dean Witter Reynolds Inc. v. Byrd, 470 U.S. 213, 221 (1985)).

“[A]rbitration is a matter of contract.” Rent-A-Ctr., W., Inc. v. Jackson, 561 U.S. 63, 67 (2010). To determine whether an arbitration agreement is valid and enforceable, courts must apply state law contract principles. Reichert v. Rapid Invs., Inc., 56 F.4th 1220, 1227 (9th Cir. 2022). Mr. Henley’s Client Agreement with TDA provides that it is to be governed by Nebraska law (see Dkt. No. 22 at 16) and the parties do not appear to dispute that the Court should apply Nebraska law here. The Court’s role under the FAA is merely to “determin[e] (1) whether a valid agreement to arbitrate exists and, if it does, (2) whether the agreement encompasses the dispute at issue.” Chiron Corp. v. Ortho Diagnostic Sys., Inc., 207 F.3d 1126, 1130 (9th Cir. 2000). The party seeking to resist arbitration bears the burden of proving that an arbitration agreement is invalid. See Gilmer v. Interstate/Johnson Lane Corp., 500 U.S. 20, 26 (1991).

b. Arbitration Agreement

TDA and the Schwab Entities⁵ argue, and Mr. Hensley does not dispute, that he signed a Client Agreement as part of his application to create an account with TDA on October 21, 2022. The Client Agreement with TDA specifically states it “contains a predispute arbitration clause. By signing this agreement, the parties agree to be bound by the terms of the Client Agreement, including the arbitration agreement located in Section 12 of the Client Agreement on page 8.” (Dkt. No. 22 at 6.) Section 12 of the Client Agreement further provides as follows:

This Agreement contains a predispute arbitration clause. By signing an arbitration clause, the parties agree as follows:

⁵ Mr. Hensley does not contest that TDA and the Schwab Entities are affiliates or that the arbitration agreement signed with TDA applies to his claims as against the Schwab Entities.

- All parties to this Agreement are giving up their right to sue each other in court, including the right to jury trial, except as provided by the rules of the arbitration forum in which a claim is filed.
- Arbitration awards are generally final and binding; a party's ability to have a court reverse or modify an arbitration award is very limited.
- The ability of the parties to obtain documents, witness statements, and other discovery is generally more limited in arbitration than in court proceedings.
- The arbitrators do not have to explain the reason(s) for their award unless, in an eligible case, a joint request for an explained decision has been submitted by all parties to the panel at least 20 days prior to the first scheduled hearing date.
- The panel of arbitrators may include a minority of arbitrators who were or are affiliated with the securities industry.
- The rules of some arbitration forums may impose time limits for bringing a claim in arbitration. In some cases, a claim that is ineligible for arbitration may be brought in court.
- The rules of the arbitration forum in which the claim is filed, and any amendments thereto, shall be incorporated into this Agreement.
- No person will bring a putative or certified class action to arbitration, nor seek to enforce any predispute arbitration agreement against any person who has initiated in court a putative class action; or who is a member of a putative class who has not opted out of the class with respect to any claims encompassed by the putative class action until: (1) the class certification is denied; (2) the class is decertified; or (3) the client is excluded from the class by the court. Such forbearance to enforce an agreement to arbitrate will not constitute a waiver of any rights under this Agreement except to the extent stated herein.

I agree that any controversy between you and your affiliates, any of their respective officers, directors, employees, or agents and me (including any of my officers, directors, employees, or agents) arising out of or relating to this Agreement, our relationship, any Services provided by you, or the use of the Services, and whether arising before or after the date of this Agreement, shall be arbitrated and conducted under the provisions of the Code of Arbitration of the FINRA. If any party unsuccessfully resists confirmation or enforcement of an arbitration award rendered under this Agreement, then that party shall pay all costs, attorneys' fees, and expenses incurred by the other party or parties in confirming or enforcing the award. Arbitration must be initiated by service upon the other party of a written demand for arbitration or notice of intention to arbitrate. Judgment, upon any award rendered by the arbitrator, may be entered in any court having jurisdiction.

(Id. at 15.)

c. Enforceability of Arbitration Agreement

1 TDA and the Schwab Entities argue 1) that the national policy favoring arbitration
2 requires the Court to enforce the parties' arbitration agreement (Dkt. No. 21 at 9), 2) the 3 arbitration agreement is enforceable under Nebraska law (id. at 11), 3) Mr. Hensley's claims fall
4 within the scope of the arbitration agreement (id. at 12), and 4) the Court should stay or dismiss
5 Mr. Hensley's claims (id. at 14).

6 In response, Mr. Hensley does not dispute that he signed the Client Agreement. Instead,
7 he argues that the agreement is unconscionable. (See Dkt. No. 27 at 5–8.) Specifically, Mr.
8 Hensley argues the agreement is unconscionable because it requires arbitration under procedures
9 defined by FINRA, a party to this suit. (Id. at 2.) Additionally, Mr. Hensley argues that there
10 was an imbalance of bargaining power between himself and TDA. (Id. at 2–3) (noting that TDA 11 and the Schwab Entities “know that FINRA looks the other way and they can act without 12 impunity, imposed on consumers on a take-it-or-leave-it basis. The effect of such clauses is often 13 to deprive or discourage consumers from enforcing their common law and statutory rights in 14 judicial forums.”). Mr. Hensley also takes issue with the means of notice of the contract, arguing 15 that the arbitration agreement was “buried in the fine print” (id. at 5), and that TDA and the 16 Schwab Entities carry the burden of showing that his waiver of his rights to trial was “knowing”
17 (id. at 8). Finally, Mr. Hensley takes issue with the lack of discovery available in a FINRA
18 arbitration. (Id. at 6.)

19 Mr. Hensley has failed to show that the arbitration agreement contained in the Client
20 Agreement is unconscionable.⁶ First, as TDA and the Schwab Entities note, FINRA will not

21
22 ⁶ The Court finds that Mr. Hensley did not dispute that all of his claims against TDA and the 23 Schwab Entities were covered by the arbitration agreement and therefore concedes this argument 24 has merit. See Freeze v. McDermott, No. C22-1844JLR, 2023 WL 3599585, at *5 (W.D. Wash.
May 23, 2023).

1 actually run the arbitration. Instead, FINRA’s code provides that the parties to the panel both
 2 vote to choose who will arbitrate their dispute.⁷ See FINRA RULE 12403, 3 <https://www.finra.org/rules-guidance/rulebooks/finra-rules/12403>. These arbitrators are 4 independent and any party may ask an arbitrator to recuse themselves for “good cause.” See 5 FINRA RULE 12406, <https://www.finra.org/rules-guidance/rulebooks/finra-rules/12406>; see also 6 Hofman, 2023 WL 3872564, at *4 (noting that FINRA arbitrators are third-party neutrals). Lack 7 of discovery and other procedural restrictions in FINRA arbitration is also irrelevant as the 8 Supreme Court has made clear that the FAA “directed [] [courts] to respect and enforce the 9 parties’ chosen arbitration procedures.” Epic Sys., 138 S. Ct. at 1621.

10 Second, a mere imbalance of bargaining power is not sufficient under Nebraska law to 11 render a contract unconscionable. Nebraska law specifically provides that “[a] written 12 agreement to submit any existing controversy to arbitration is valid, enforceable, and irrevocable
 13 except upon such grounds as exist at law or in equity for the revocation of any contract.” Neb.
 14 Rev. Stat. § 25-2602.01(a). Unconscionability is a recognized defense to the formation of a 15 contract and the Nebraska Supreme Court has defined unconscionable as being “manifestly 16 unfair or inequitable.” Myers v. Nebraska Inv. Council, 724 N.W.2d 776, 799 (Neb. 2006).
 17 “Unconscionability is determined in light of all the surrounding circumstances, including (1) the 18 manner in which the parties entered into the contract, (2) whether the parties had a reasonable 19 opportunity to understand the terms of the contract, and (3) whether the important terms were 20 hidden in a maze of fine print.” Parizek v. Roncalli Cath. High Sch. of Omaha, 655 N.W.2d 404,

21
 22 ⁷ The Court notes that this point also applies to Mr. Hensley’s concerns about the qualifications of 23 potential arbitrators to evaluate consumer protection claims. (See Dkt. No. 27 at 6.) Mr. Hensley 24 may select an arbitrator that meets his standards and any concerns he has at this point are immaterial.

408 (Neb. Ct. App. 2002). Additionally, contracts of adhesion, contracts where one party with substantially greater bargaining presents another with a take-it-or-leave-it offer, are not automatically unconscionable under Nebraska law. See E.E.O.C. v. Woodmen of World Life Ins. Soc., 479 F.3d 561, 566 (8th Cir. 2007).

Here, Mr. Hensley does not dispute that he checked off the box for the Client Agreement affirming that he agreed to be bound by its terms and e-signed his name. (See Dkt. No. 22 at 6.)

A party may only sign up for an account after reading the Client Agreement. (See id. at 6)

(“Before we can open your account, you must read and electronically sign the TD Ameritrade

Client Agreement. If you do not agree with the Client Agreement or find any part of it unacceptable, you shouldn't open your account at this time.”). The Client Agreement signature section also clearly identified that it included an arbitration agreement and identified the exact section of the Client Agreement where the arbitration agreement was located. (Id.) The arbitration agreement itself is also clear and unambiguous. The first bullet point notes that “[a]ll parties to this Agreement are giving up their right to sue each other in court, including the right to jury trial, except as provided by the rules of the arbitration forum in which a claim is filed.”

(Id. at 15.) Finally, the arbitration agreement applies equally to “[a]ll parties” and is therefore not “one-sided,” as Mr. Hensley alleges. (Id.) The Court cannot find under these circumstances that the Client Agreement is unconscionable.

Given that the Client Agreement is not unconscionable⁸ and Mr. Hensley has not presented any other grounds to invalidate the arbitration agreement⁹, the Court GRANTS TDA and the Schwab Entities' motion to compel arbitration.

d. Dismissal or Staying the Action

Since the arbitration agreement is enforceable, the Court must decide whether to stay or to dismiss this action.

9 U.S.C. § 3 mandates that a court must stay proceedings where "the issue involved in such suit or proceeding is referable to arbitration . . . on application of one of the parties." Though § 3 only discusses stays of proceedings, the Ninth Circuit has held "a district court may either stay the action or dismiss it outright when, as here, the court determines that all of the claims raised in the action are subject to arbitration." Johnmohammadi v. Bloomingdale's, Inc., 755 F.3d 1072, 1074 (9th Cir. 2014). Since the Court finds, and Mr. Hensley does not dispute, that the arbitration agreement covers all of the claims against TDA and the Schwab Entities, the Court GRANTS TDA and the Schwab Entities' motion to dismiss and to compel arbitration.

IV CONCLUSION

Accordingly, and having considered the Defendants' motions, the briefing of the parties, and the remainder of the record, the Court finds and ORDERS as follows:

1. FINRA's motion to dismiss (Dkt. No. 13) is GRANTED. Mr. Hensley's claims against FINRA are dismissed with prejudice.
2. The GTS Defendants' motion to dismiss (Dkt. No. 14) is GRANTED. Mr. Hensley's claims against the GTS Defendants are dismissed without prejudice.
3. TDA and the Schwab Entities' motion to compel arbitration and to stay or dismiss this case (Dkt. No. 21) is GRANTED. Mr. Hensley's claims against TDA and the Schwab Entities are DISMISSED without prejudice.

⁸ Mr. Hensley appears to argue that he did not knowingly waive his constitutional right to a trial by jury. However, the arbitration agreement clearly disclosed that he was waiving such a right when he signed the agreement and Mr. Hensley does not present any evidence to the contrary.

⁹ As noted, Mr. Hensley bears the burden to demonstrate that the arbitration agreement is invalid.

4. Mr. Hensley's claims against the Doe Defendants are dismissed without prejudice.¹⁰

DATED this 2nd day of October 2023.

David G. Estudillo
United States District Judge

¹⁰ Because all named defendants have been dismissed and Mr. Hensley has failed to provide factual allegations sufficient to distinguish the actions of any of the Doe Defendants, “dismissal without prejudice is appropriate.” Comenout v. Pierce Cnty. Superior Ct., No. 3:16-CV-05464-RJB, 2017 WL 1957125, at *4 (W.D. Wash. May 11, 2017).

Date: 06/23/21

Background

Torchlight Energy Resources, Inc. (TRCH) has announced a distribution of (New) Torchlight Energy Resources, Inc. Series A Preferred Shares (“Series A Preferred Shares”). The distribution ratio is 1 Series A Preferred Share for each TRCH share held. The record date is June 24, 2021; the payable date is June 25, 2021. The NASDAQ has set June 23, 2021 as the ex-distribution date for this distribution.

The trading status for Series A Preferred Shares is not yet known. Per the TRCH Proxy Statement dated May 5, 2021 and filed May 7, 2021, it is not expected that the Series A Preferred Shares will be listed on a national securities exchange.

Possible Settlement Procedures

OCC anticipates that if an OTC or OTCBB (Bulletin Board) market develops, NSCC will accept transactions in the Series A Preferred Shares which arise as a result of option exercise and assignment activity. In that event, TRCH1 option exercise and assignment activity will settle in the normal fashion through NSCC. However, if a market does not develop or NSCC does not accept transactions in the Series A Preferred Shares, OCC anticipates requiring broker to broker settlement for TRCH1 options. Pursuant to customary OCC broker to broker settlement procedures, inability to effect delivery may subsequently occasion cash settlement as determined by OCC.

The TRCH component of the TRCH1 deliverable will settle through National Securities Clearing Corporation (NSCC). OCC will delay settlement of the Series A Preferred Share component of the TRCH1 deliverable until the trading status of Series A Preferred Shares is determined.
